BIOGRAPHY: My musical interests have been multiple throughout my life, growing up in a home where my dad sang and played country music all our lives. For a long time I have been in church choirs, including one ensemble in the 1990's. It wasn't until 2019 that I finally decided to start writing and singing music about my own life experiences. Most of it I call folk music with a few that have a more pop sound.
